Sedalia Police Officer Larry Farrens is trying his hand at operating the Sedalia Fire Department's metal saw used for cutting through wrecked automobiles to release trapped and injured passengers. The action occurred

Thursday morning during a seminar for local firemen and policemen in which they familiarized themselves with each other's emergency accident equipment.

Emergency Squad Being Trained

The various uses of a "porto power" unit and a metal saw, in releasing trapped and injured passengers from wrecked vehicles, were displayed to Sedalia policemen and firemen in a demonstration seminar Thursday morning at fire station number three, 2606 West 16th.

The seminar was held to acquaint members of both departments with each other's equipment for dealing with passengers in wrecked motor vehicles. A damaged automobile was provided for the occasion by McCowan Brother's Salvage.

The porto-power unit, actually a hydraulic jack, was demonstrated by Marty McPherson, an employee of Bryant's Motor Co.

Demonstrating the fire department's metal saw was fireman C. W. "Red" Gordy. Following Gordy's initial demonstration, the saw was also operated by policemen Larry Farrens and William Erwin and fireman Kenny Sublett.

Seminar instructor leaders were Assistant Police Chief Charles Knapp and Assistant Fire Chief Chester Anderson.

Also attending the seminar, in addition to police and firemen were members of Mrs. Foster McGuire's State Fair Community College class in emergency care and transportation.

Knapp described the demonstration "as only the first in a series of efforts to create a special emergency squad of about four or five policemen and four or five firemen."

"We realize there is a need for such a service," Knapp said, "and we aim to provide it. The more everyone understands how to operate all the equipment available to both departments, the better it will be."

Knapp said he did not yet know when the emergency training crews would be selected.

Dean Charges Discredit Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ousted presidential counsel John W. Dean III said today there is an unwillingness by the White House to accept the truth about Watergate and charged there is an effort to shut him up and discredit him.

His statement, issued through an intermediary, came in the wake of published reports that Senate and Justice Department investigators believe he has no evidence linking President Nixon to the Watergate bugging or cover-up.

"The information contained in these stories is neither complete nor accurate," Dean said, applying it to many news stories about him.

Nixon, in a speech to Republican financial backers Wednesday night, promised that "the guilty will be brought to justice," in the scandal.

Dean said "there have been discussions within the White House during the past four to five months as to how to end the Watergate matter, but these discussions always ended with an unwillingness to accept the truth for what it meant. That unwillingness to accept the truth still prevails among some who are affected by the truth."

He did not name those he said are out to discredit him, but said:

"There is an ongoing effort to limit or prevent my testifying fully and freely. Efforts have been made to prevent me from obtaining relevant information and records; attempts have been made to influence the handling of my testimony by the prosecutors; restrictions have been placed on the scope of my testimony as it relates to the White House; and blatant efforts have been made to publicly intimidate me."

Dean was fired by Nixon April 30. He subsequently placed documents into a safe deposit box and turned the keys over to a federal judge. A hearing will be held Monday on the disposition of the documents.

Nixon told a $1,000-a-plate Republican campaign dinner Wednesday night, "I can assure you that we will get to the bottom of this deplorable incident."

The President said he was elected to build "a more peaceful world" and is determined to go forward toward that goal.

"We're going to make the next four years better than the last four years," Nixon told the kickoff fund-raising event for the 1974 congressional campaign.

In a Watergate development earlier in the day, the director of the Central Intelligence Agency told senators that a trusted Nixon adviser, John D. Ehrlichman, smoothed the way for E. Howard Hunt to obtain CIA materials later used in an office burglary.

CIA Chief James L. Schlesinger said the agency didn't know what Hunt's mission was but that giving him the aid was ill-advised, even though Ehrlichman, who gave up his White House post last week, was said to have asked that Hunt receive agency assistance.

Hunt, a one-time CIA employee, has testified he took part in the September 1971 burglary of a Los Angeles psychiatrist's office in an attempt to photograph the doctor's files on Daniel Ellsberg, a defendant in the Pentagon papers trial.

Disaster Assistance Team Is Coming Here

A federal-state disaster assistance team will be at the National Guard Armory in Sedalia from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday to advise flood victims of available federal and state aid, and to process applications.

The team will be at six different locations in western Missouri this week and next, including at the National Guard Armory in Clinton on Tuesday.

Walter Kallaur, public information officer for the federal Office of Emergency Preparedness (OEP) in St. Louis, said any person whose property sustained damage from heavy rains or flooding should meet with the assistance team to see if he is eligible for federal or state aid.

Kallaur said the only requirements for assistance is that the damage occurred after April 20 and that it was caused by heavy rains or floods.

A spokesman for the OEP acknowledged that the assistance would not specifically cover damage from tornadoes, but "even persons with tornado damage should come in because they might be eligible for another type of aid," he said.

Any state resident is eligible to apply for the relief funds at any of the locations, an OEP spokesman said.

Some types of assistance requests will be processed the same day, the spokesman said. Others are to be filled out by the applicant and then submitted to the assistance team when it returns to Sedalia again in the near future.

The spokesman said representatives from the following agencies are to be included in the team: Internal Revenue Service, State Division of Unemployment, State Division of Welfare, Veterans Administration, Small Business Administration, Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Red Cross and Salvation Army.

The schedule for the assistance teams is as follows: Thursday, First Baptist Church, Lebanon; Friday, Douglas County Courthouse, Ava; Saturday, Aurora City Hall; Monday, National Guard Armory, Joplin; Tuesday, National Guard Armory, Clinton; Wednesday, National Guard Armory, Sedalia.

More information may be obtained daily throughout the disaster area by calling a toll free number, 1-800-392-3740.

Equal Rights Bill Is Killed by House

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri House voted, 81-70 today to kill the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The bill, sought by women to end discrimination against them and opposed by other women who say the amendment would remove special treatment for women and force them to serve in the military, is now dead in the Missouri Legislature this session.

The measure was defeated earlier this session in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The House had given the proposal tentative approval last week, 84-79.

So far, 30 states have ratified the amendment. Thirty-eight states must ratify it before it can be added to the Constitution.

The measure as approved tentatively by the House would have called for public vote of Missouri citizens on the measure.

Many representatives said amendments must be ratified by the legislatures, and not by referendum.

"I expected it, but I'm still very disappointed," said the ERA resolution sponsor, Rep. Sue Shear, D-Clayton. "We lost some people on the floor today that were for it before."

In the Senate today, preliminary approval was given to a bill creating the office of ombudsman, a person to investigate citizen complaints.

The ombudsman would be appointed by a judicial appellate panel and then stand for re-election to a six-year term. He would be paid $25,000 and have a staff.

The sponsor, Sen. William B. Waters, D-Liberty, said, "The basic purpose of this office is not purely information, but to conduct investigations."

Some senators criticized the idea, saying legislators should handle such complaints from citizens.

Gov. Christopher S. Bond and Lt. Gov. William C. Phelps have proposed the lieutenant governor, who receives $16,000, be named the ombudsman.

In action Wednesday night, the House Judiciary Committee approved an open meeting in a closed meeting after telling reporters to leave.

Rep. Harold Volkmer, D-Hannibal, chairman of the committee, made the motion to conduct the final discussion and vote on the bill in the closed meeting.

The bill would require all official meetings of governmental bodies to be held in public and would open all official records to public inspection.

Several last minute changes were made in the bill before the final vote, but reporters were denied the right to listen to the changes.

If approved by the House, the bill which was passed by the Senate would go to the governor for his signature or veto.

If approved by Gov. Christopher S. Bond, House committees as well as other governmental bodies could no longer hold meetings closed to the public or the press.

The Senate has held open discussion sessions for the first time this year after Senate rules were changed to allow it.

The only non-committee member allowed to remain in the House committee meeting was Sen. William J. Cason, D-Clinton, president pro tem of the Senate, who introduced the bill.

The following representatives were present when Volkmer made the motion for the closed meeting, and none objected:

Volkmer, Bill Peterson, D-Marshall, Joe Holt, D-Fulton, Phil Snowden, D-Gladstone, Murray Stone, D-St. Louis, Ronald M. Belt, R-Macon, David Reed, R-Kansas City, and Robert O. Snyder, R-Kirkwood.

Sen. Cason made no objection to the closed meeting.

Schlesinger Named Defense Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon picked CIA Director James S. Schlesinger as defense secretary today and added John Connally to his White House staff as a special adviser in moves to plug holes left by the Watergate scandal.

Nixon also abandoned his "super-Cabinet" concept of counselors; promoted William E. Colby to CIA director, and named Pentagon general counsel J. Fred Buzhardt Jr. to his White House staff as a special counsel with "full responsibility in matters relating to the Watergate investigation."

The series of actions to bolster his beleaguered administration were disclosed first by Nixon at a Cabinet meeting, then announced by press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler at a White House news briefing.

The presidential decisions came 10 days after Nixon's closest aides—H. R. Alderman and John Ehrlichman—and Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst resigned amid a swirl of Watergate developments.

Nixon had nominated Elliot Richardson to succeed Kleindienst as attorney general, leaving vacant the Pentagon post which Schlesinger was picked to fill.

Nixon told his Cabinet he intended to maintain more direct communication with Cabinet members, Ziegler later reported. Senate Major Leader Mike Mansfield, D-

Mont., was informed of the Schlesinger appointment in advance. He called the nominee "a good man" and said he could foresee no difficulty about Senate confirmation.

Senate Minority Whip Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., said he believes Schlesinger will be "generally acceptable." Griffin was informed of the nomination at a breakfast meeting of Republican leaders with President Nixon.

Ziegler said the counselor role played by three Cabinet members "will not be in effect any longer." The counselor roles were created by executive action earlier this year when Nixon sent Congress proposals for broad government reorganization.

Ziegler said the counselor concept "will be moved aside until the legislation is passed."

Schlesinger had headed the government's spy agency for less than four months when Nixon turned to him for the top defense post which California millionaire industrialist David Packard had turned down earlier this week.

Schlesinger is ticketed for the spot left vacant when Nixon nominated Elliot Richardson, who had held the Pentagon post only three months, to become attorney general, succeeding Richard Kleindienst who resigned 10 days ago.

Stover Woman Is Fatally Injured

A Stover woman died about 6 p.m. at Bothwell Hospital from injuries she received in a car-truck accident at 5:10 p.m. Wednesday at Highway 65 and North Grand.

Dead is Mrs. Ann Simon Kueck, 68. According to the Highway Patrol, Mrs. Kueck was driving a 1961 Ford station wagon south on Grand Avenue, crossing the highway, when her car collided with a 1969 Ford pickup truck driven north on Highway 65 by Carroll Ann Rhoades, 29, Route 4. The Rhoades woman suffered numerous bruises and was treated by a private physician, the Patrol said.

According to investigating Trooper Charles Pieper, there were no skid marks at the scene. He reported the Rhoades woman said she was driving north about 55 miles an hour when the Kueck car crossed the highway immediately in front of her.

Mrs. Kueck, who became the third traffic fatality in the county this year, apparently was thrown from her car. She suffered extensive head injuries, it was reported.

Damage was extensive to both vehicles, the Patrol said.

Mrs. Kueck was born Jan. 1, 1905, at O'Fallon, Ill., daughter of the late Henry W. and Christine Becker Biere. She moved to Sedalia in 1912 and was married to Paul A. Simon on June 25, 1925. He preceded her in death in 1965. On Aug. 31, 1969, she was married to Edwin Kueck, who survives.

While residing in Sedalia, Mrs. Kueck was a member of the United Church of Christ. After moving to Stover in 1969, she became a member of the Lutheran Church.

Also surviving are two sons, Elwood R. Simon, 1410 South Osage; Donald P. Simon, 506 Wilkerson; four daughters, Mrs.

Discuss Establishment Of 'Birthright' Chapter

The possibility of enlisting support for the establishment of a local chapter of "Birthright," an abortion telephone referral service now in operation in Kansas City, was discussed Wednesday by some 20 members of the Sedalia branch of the Missouri Citizens for Life at their monthly meeting at Our Savior Lutheran Church.

Because Missouri Citizens for Life is strictly a legislative-oriented organization, it cannot sponsor a local Birthright service, Sedalia branch chairman Mrs. John White, 103 East 28th, explained. However, she added, the group could serve as a focal point for enlisting public support and volunteer efforts for the Birthright organization.

Birthright would be manned and funded entirely through volunteer efforts, Mrs. White said. It would provide counseling to any woman, married or unmarried, who is concerned about an unwanted pregnancy.

Birthright volunteers, she added, would inform women of all federal, state and local organizations and services which could offer them additional help. Also, the names of appropriate local physicians cooperating in the program will be provided to the women, if the volunteer feels it necessary.

The group discussed the possibility of selling anti-abortion bracelets, similar in appearance to the prisoner of war bracelets recently worn by many persons. The bracelets, it was explained, would be engraved with the Greek letters Alpha (beginning) and Omega (end) and a "circle of life" design.

Although specific sales plans are undetermined, Mrs. White said particular emphasis would probably be given to selling the bracelets to youths in the near future.

The group also received more blank petition sheets from the Committee of 10,000,000, which they plan to circulate locally.

After a sufficient number of signatures are obtained, the sheets will be mailed in and then sent with others across the country to various government leaders to dramatize opposition to lenient abortion legislation.

It was also announced that the Missouri Citizens for Life hope to have a booth at the Missouri State Fair. If a booth is secured, members of the Sedalia group would probably supervise it, Mrs. White said.

Addressing the group Wednesday were Mrs. Robert Linsendard, Route 2, and Mrs. Anthony Simon, Route 3, who led the group in briefly discussing such items as counseling and social work for women concerned with their pregnancy, comprehensive vocational and educational programs for unwed mothers, continued research into family planning excluding abortion, and improvement of adoption procedures.

The group's next meeting is scheduled for July 17.

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP) — Arrest procedures of police in Webb City and Joplin are expected to come under the scrutiny of a Jasper County Grand Jury.

The jury—the first since 1968—is expected to meet in both Carthage and Joplin.

Hope Weekend Crests Are Last

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mississippi Valley residents are hoping the predicted weekend crest of the Mississippi River will be the last gasp of the Spring flood of 1973, which has forced 39,000 persons from their homes and inundated 12.6 million acres.

A spokesman for the Corps of Engineers said it was "good news" to hear the National Weather Service's river prediction of minor crests at St. Charles on the Missouri and St. Louis on the Mississippi.

The Missouri is expected to crest at 31.5 feet at St. Charles by Saturday, 6½ feet above flood stage. The Mississippi at St. Louis will reach 38.5 feet Saturday, 8½ feet over flood, the weather service predicted.

The new crest, the fourth on the rivers this Spring, would be 4 to 5 below the crests of two weeks ago which broke a record at St. Louis which stood since 1785.

The flooding situation in the St. Louis District, which includes the Mississippi from Hannibal, Mo., to Cairo, Ill., and the lower 80 miles of the Illinois River, was "tapering off," a corps spokesman said Wednesday night.

The weather service had originally forecast slightly higher crests for St. Louis and St. Charles for Sunday, but said there was less runoff from flooded land than had been expected.

"The ground has been drying out quickly," the spokesman said. "The wind helps a lot with the evaporation, too."

The heavy Spring rains, which pushed the rivers over their banks inundating mostly farmland, have also slowed spring planting in areas that are not under water.

"The chances are slim for farmers along the Mississippi and Missouri rivers and their tributaries to plant profitable crops this year, except possibly some late soybean acreage," said James B. Boillot, state agricultural commissioner.

Agricultural officials estimated that 1.8 million acres of 8.2 per cent of the state's farmland have been affected by the flooding.

Planting for spring planting is now only 14 per cent complete compared with 100 per cent at this time last year, agricultural officials reported.

Marriage Contract Devised

SEATTLE (AP) — On the day after Thanksgiving, Harvey Sadis and Harriett Cody signed a partnership agreement — that is, a contract to become partners in marriage.

It calls for separate bank accounts, independent management and control of all financial assets and a division of space in a large old frame house they're buying.

Birth control is listed as a mutual obligation and an unwanted pregnancy as unacceptable.

To resolve serious conflicts, a third-party mediator is specified. And the entire 10-article document is subject to amendment and mandatory reevaluation each year.

Sadis, 26, a schoolteacher, and Cody, a 27-year-old law student at the University of Puget Sound, say it took six months of negotiations to work out the contract.

"It's not a guarantee of anything. We recognize that," she said. "The pledges made in the contract call for emotional support and mutual consent to share household tasks, make independent friendships, pursue our separate careers and even live apart if necessary."

"But we wanted to go through a process whereby our expectations were articulated. We didn't want marriage to be a big crisis experience."

"I used to throw up my hands and say permanent relationships never work out," she said. "But that's just a cop out."

They admit it was a difficult task. Sadis is Jewish, the first man in his family to marry outside the faith. Cody is Protestant. Their contract allows Harvey to practice his religion and Harriett to remain non-Jewish.

He says he wants children. She says she doesn't want to become a mother yet. The contract declares the partners will not be "unfulfilled if they choose not to have children."

Luverne Reike, a family law specialist at the University of Washington Law School and head of the State Judicial Council, says most provisions of the document will stand up in court.

Ironically, he said, one provision which appeared invalid would permit dissolution of the marriage under certain conditions and determine how property would be assigned.

"Only the judge may decide the interpretation of the legal grounds for divorce," Reike said. "Collusion or manufacturing grounds can result in a fraudulent divorce which may be set aside. And it is not possible for the parties to bind the court in the disposition of the property in a divorce action."

Peeve Concerns Broken Articles

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the mail service. Several times I have received packages through the mail that contained breakable items that arrived broken. They are packed carefully and marked on all sides. "Fragile — Handle with Care." It seems that people working in the post office could handle fragile packages more carefully than they do. It is so disappointing to receive lovely but broken things through the mail and the sender always feels so badly about this. — LEE

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — Is there any way to restore the color to bleach spots on a copper-tone washer without having to repaint it? — I have a Pointer that I like very much. Place paper towels in the bottom of the refrigerator crisper drawer and find they absorb any excess moisture and save a lot of cleaning. The towels are easy to remove and replace with new ones when needed. — MRS. C.E.S.

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. E.A.W. who has the sweater with grosgrain bands that have shrunk so they pucker should buy more ribbon and be sure to get enough extra to allow for shrinkage and wash it. Carefully remove the old grosgrain from the sweater. Clip carefully around the buttonholes, and when the newly shrunk ribbon is sewn to the garment, finish the buttonholes by hand with small stitches underneath or make new machine-made ones. Hope this helps Mrs. E.A.W. as it helped me. — MRS. R.M.

DEAR POLLY — I have a great use for those plastic dress bags that come from the cleaners, which can be dangerous if not disposed of properly. One large bag or two shorter ones will wind completely around a metal hanger to make a soft, padded, non-skid hanger for sweaters, pantsuits, etc. Leave about six inches above the top hook of the hanger, run your hand down the plastic bag to pull it together and then twist it as you wind it over the hanger, tightly or loosely. This really works and it is a joy to hang things that formerly slipped off the hanger. I almost forgot to tell you to tie the ends together at the top of the hanger. Plastic is terrific but ecology-wise think what it does to old Mother Earth when it is in the ground after being dumped and covered over. Are we choking our earth? I wonder. — ELEANORE (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Concluding Arguments Scheduled

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Attorneys for Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo conclude their last arguments today on why they think the charges against their clients should be dismissed before the Pentagon papers trial, now tightly enmeshed with the Watergate scandal, goes to the jury.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne has promised that sometime during the day he would make a decision on the defense motion for dismissal based on Watergate and White House involvements in the case.

The defense has been pressing for dismissal ever since it was first revealed that Watergate conspirators E. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy had masterminded a burglary of the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Attorneys for Ellsberg and Russo contend government activities uncovered by the judge's two-week probe of the matter have shown that the defendants' rights to a fair trial were violated.

Asst. U.S. Atty. David Nissen said nothing from the burglary was used by the Justice Department in prosecuting Ellsberg and Russo and that the government's evidence against them has not been tainted. He opposes dismissal of the charges.

But the defense team says it will not be satisfied until it has explanations of all government actions in the matter—including the 10-day delay between the time Watergate prosecutor Earl J. Silbert reported the burglary information and the day it was reported to Byrne.

Four Justice Department officials, including Nissen, filed affidavits with Byrne Wednesday saying they knew nothing about the burglary until the Silbert memo on April 16. But none of the statements mentioned why it took until April 26 to tell Byrne.

The defense team said it considered the affidavits "entirely insufficient" and would keep pressing for a full scale hearing with testimony. Defense attorneys have said they are "actively considering" trying to allege that President Nixon impeded delivery of the memo to the judge.

Joining Nissen in filing an affidavit were Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen, who heads the Watergate probe; Justice Department attorney John Martin; and Deputy Asst. Atty. Gen. Kevin T. Maroney, who is general supervisor of the Pentagon papers prosecution.

Petersen acknowledged that pictures of the psychiatrist's office taken by Hunt and developed by the Central Intelligence Agency were delivered to the Justice Department in October 1972 in connection with the Watergate case, but he said no one realized any link to the Pentagon papers case before this week.

In their arguments today, attorneys for both sides were ordered by Byrne to speak on the question of whether the case should be thrown out on the ground that the government has not presented sufficient trial evidence to prove the defendants guilty.

They are accused of espionage, conspiracy and theft for copying the Pentagon papers, a top secret study of U.S. involvement in Vietnam, in 1969.

Wage Measure Gets Committee's Okay

(Democrat-Capital Service)

JEFFERSON CITY — Rep. Bill Peterson, D-Marshall, announced Thursday that a House bill eliminating discrimination in wages between state employees working in metropolitan areas and those in rural districts was approved by the Senate committee hearing the bill.

Peterson said the bill would now go to the Senate floor for action with a "do pass" recommendation from the Senate committee. He said that he and other sponsors of the bill are optimistic about the bill's chances for passage in the Senate.

Accidental Shot Hurts Man's Foot

George Moore, 23, Warsaw, was treated and released early Thursday morning at Bothwell Hospital for a gunshot wound to his foot.

Warns Against Future Pet Poisonings Here

Confronted with the report of a third animal poisoned in the same Sedalia area, Police Chief William Miller Thursday morning warned that poisoning pets is a graded felony and can result, upon conviction, in jail sentences ranging from 6 months to 3 years, plus a $250 fine.

It was reported Wednesday that a pet dog owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lightfoot, 425 South Grand, died of strychnine poisoning. Mrs. Lightfoot also told police Thursday she had learned of another dog poisoning incident about two weeks ago. In that case, however, the animal was treated in time and did not die, as her dog did, she said.

A Sedalia veterinarian, Dr. P. L. Tharp, who treated Mrs. Lightfoot's dog, told The Democrat-Capital he treated another dog that also died from strychnine poisoning.

"An animal doesn't have to die for the act to be a graded felony," Miller said. State statutes say that any person "who... maliciously and willfully administers any poison" to any domestic animal can be fined $250, given six months in the county jail or three years in the state penitentiary.

Miller said strychnine is found in some forms of rat poison. However, most poisons of this nature no longer contain strychnine, he said, but the fatal substance can still be obtained. Usually, if purchased from a reputable druggist, a permit must be signed by the buyer, Miller said.

"We'll be checking the drug stores to see if anyone has ordered or purchased strychnine," he said, indicating police would also check the area where the Lightfoot family lives.

A report that a fourth animal was acting strangely — in a way similar to that of the Lightfoot dog before it died — could not be immediately confirmed.

Mrs. Lightfoot's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Coats, 1223 East Ninth, are offering a $200 reward for information leading to the apprehension and conviction of anyone caught poisoning dogs.

Convicted Youth Eludes Officers; Search Goes On

Law enforcement officials were still searching Thursday for Melvin Schumaker, 15, Dresden, who escaped from Pettis County authorities about 11:25 a.m. Wednesday.

Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said late Thursday morning the youth was still at large. Fairfax said authorities would continue the search Thursday afternoon.

Schumaker reportedly fled east on Fifth Street after he broke away from J. W. Newland, county juvenile officer. The incident reportedly occurred between the Pettis County courthouse and the county jail after the youth was sentenced in Juvenile Court earlier in the morning to the State Training School for Boys at Boonville.

The youth reportedly was arrested by county authorities earlier in the month in connection with a burglary case, one source said.

Assisting in the search Wednesday were the boy's father and brother, Pettis County sheriff's officers, Sedalia police and the Highway Patrol.

Theft at LaMonte Bank Not Solved

(Democrat-Capital Service)

LaMONTE — The thieves who took an estimated $20,000 March 2 from the Community Bank here have not been apprehended, Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said Thursday.

"There have been no new leads, no developments," Fairfax said.

The sheriff indicated that agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation are continuing the investigation. Fairfax said he is contacted by the FBI about once a week and "so far they (FBI) haven't come up with anything."

The burglars reportedly forced a door and used an acetylene torch to burn a hole in the safe and vault door.

First Plenary Troop Session Set for Monday

VIENNA (AP) — Representatives of the United States and the Soviet Union, in a joint appearance today, announced that the first plenary session of preparatory talks on European troop reductions will be held here next Monday.

A statement read first by the U.S. delegate and then by the Soviet representative, said: "Representatives of the 19 states who are the participants in the preparatory consultations related to central Europe which began in Vienna on Jan. 31, 1973 will hold a plenary meeting in the board room of the IAEA — International Atomic Energy Agency — building on Monday, May 14, 1973, at 10:30 a.m. — 5:30 a.m., EDT."

Although no details were disclosed, the announcement meant a breakthrough in the talks, deadlocked since Jan. 31 and that some kind of compromise had been reached.

Since the delegates from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Soviet bloc's Warsaw Pact began meeting in January, they have held only informal private talks.

Informants suggested that one of the compromises reached may have been on the status of Hungary at the talks.

The sources indicated that the NATO representatives accepted the Communist demand that Hungary be given observer status only in the substantive negotiations that are expected to start in the fall. As a concession to the West, however, the Communists agreed that Hungary's position would be reconsidered once the conference starts.

The West had wanted Hungary to be a full member of the conference in hopes that would bind her to whatever agreements were reached.

Rural Electric Bill Sent to President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress finished action today on a compromise rural electric and telephone loan bill and sent it to President Nixon for his expected signature.

The House passed the measure 363-25 with no debate after Agriculture Committee Chairman W. R. Poage, D-Tex., and Rep. Charles M. Teague, R-Calif., the panel's senior GOP member, said the bill carried bipartisan congressional approval and had the blessing of the Nixon administration.

The action came a day after the Senate accepted the compromise by 93-3. Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., the bill's floor manager in the Senate, and Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., said they were certain the President would sign it. Poage and Teague agreed with that view.

Cambodia Bomb Vote Expected Later Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats lined up against U.S. bombing in Cambodia 144 to 22 in caucus today as the House headed for a cliff-hanging vote on the bombing later in the day.

With 76 Democrats absent and the House Republican vote still unmeasured, the caucus vote gave no firm indication which way the House will go on the bombing.

The Democrats' vote was for an amendment by Rep. Joseph P. Addabbo, D-N.Y., that would reject President Nixon's entire $430 million transfer request for defense spending—including some $150 million for the bombing and other Indochina activities.

Some of Nixon's backers said before the balloting that it could result in the first House antiwar vote of the Indochina conflict.

Rep. Joe D. Waggoner, D-La., a leader of Southern Democrats who in the past have joined Republicans in support of presidents' war policies, said the coalition favoring the Nixon stand was about five votes short late Wednesday.

"If we were voting right now I think we'd lose," Waggoner said.

The vote was on Nixon's request in a $2.8-billion supplemental money bill for authority to transfer $430 million for military spending, including $150 million for the bombing and other Indochina activities.

Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson said Monday the bombing will continue in an effort to force a Cambodia cease-fire even if Congress rejects the transfer authority.

Democratic leaders of the House and Senate pressed for its rejection anyway, contending it could be construed as approval not only of the Cambodian bombing but of future U.S. steps to try to force a cease-fire.

"I don't want to declare another war with ambiguous language in an appropriation bill," House Speaker Carl Albert said last week.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Wednesday that if rejection of the $150 million does not stop the bombing Congress should reject every other measure for the Pentagon.

"You're getting back into the same old Vietnamese pattern," Mansfield said. "This country is not worth the life of one American soldier."

"I don't want to see any more Vietnams, anywhere, anytime," he said.

Richardson said Monday the $430-million transfer authority is needed to cover unanticipated war costs, dollar devaluation and food-price increases for U.S. forces worldwide for the last two months of fiscal 1973, which ends June 30.

Commissioner Is Given Another Term

Frank Van Dyke, Smithton, was appointed by the Pettis County Court Thursday to another three-year term as a road commissioner for Pettis County on the State Highway Commission.

Western District Judge John Blum Jr., said the four commissioners make recommendations to the State Highway Commission for improvements on state-maintained roads in the county.

The other three commissioners are Clarence Purchase, Green Ridge; James Higgins, Houstonia; and Kalo Monsees, Smithton.

Fires Do $400 In Damage Here

Sedalia firemen responded to two fires Wednesday evening and Thursday morning.

A fire at 10:43 a.m. Thursday at 618 North Monticello resulted in $300 damage to a home owned and occupied by Jennie Jenkins. The fire was attributed to defective wiring.

A blaze at 10:48 p.m. Wednesday resulted in $100 damages to a car parked at 12th and Ohio. The fire in the car, owned by Tom Meyer, address not given, was also believed caused by defective wiring.

Hear Clearly Again!

Displeased With Food Prices

By LOUIS HARRIS

Although 69 per cent of the families of the country report that during the recent consumer boycott they "refused to eat meat," a sizable majority, 71-25 per cent, nonetheless concedes that the meat boycott was "only slightly" or "not at all successful in getting the price of meat lowered."

A record 70 per cent of the public now agrees that "food prices have gone up faster than other prices." Last June, 60 per cent felt that way. However, the public favors "placing all foods under federal price controls by only 46-41 per cent."

This price-control margin disappears when people are confronted with the probability of food rationing in grocery stores, or that some system of stamps would be initiated, or that people might have to face World War II black market conditions again.

Nonetheless, the consumers of the country are prepared to take direct action once again to try to relieve their frustration with the sharp rises in food prices. By 68-25 per cent, they say they would "refuse to eat meat" again "if urged to do so by an organized consumer group." By 59-29 per cent, they would "boycott price gougers" if urged to by consumerist groups, even though a majority say they have not done so individually to date.

Between April 18 and 23, a nationwide cross section of 1,537 households was asked: "Here is a list of some things some people have done as individuals to help fight inflation. Have you participated or not?"

Actions To Fight Inflation

	Have Done	Have Not	Not Sure
Bought fewer things	81	18	1
Refused to buy certain items	80	18	2
Refused to eat meat	69	29	2
Boycotted price gougers	35	60	5
Reported price gougers	6	90	4
Organized groups to check on retail prices	2	96	2

It is apparent from these results that most of the buying resistance has been generated on an individual basis, with relatively little direct action tied to organized groups. However, the potential for such organized consumer participation appears to be substantial — especially if prices continue to soar.

The cross section was also asked: "If urged to do so by an organized consumer group, would you do one of the following or not?"

Joint Action If Urged

	Would	Not	Not Sure
Buy fewer things	72	20	8
Refuse to buy certain items	72	20	8
Refuse to eat meat again	68	25	7

Corregidor Survivors Meeting

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Survivors of one of the darkest hours of World War II gathered for a reunion dinner here Wednesday night—prelude to the week-long convention of the American Defenders of Bataan and Corregidor, Inc.

Harold M. (Gunner) Ferrell of Carmichael, Calif., an 18-year veteran of the Marine Corps, recalled the starvation that faced the American fighting men before they finally surrendered in May 1942—with 1,496 Americans becoming Japanese prisoners.

There was a rehashing of the stories of brutality, hunger and beatings. Some of the scars were still visible.

"The prisoners were sent to numerous camps," Ferrell recalled. "For many of us, this is the first get together since that separation. I'm meeting a number of people that I haven't seen since the surrender of Corregidor."

The 64-year-old Ferrell, father of three sons, and a real estate appraiser for the state of California, says he sees little difference between the ability and dedication of the men he served with and those in the Armed Forces today.

"All of them (his sons) are good Americans," he said, "and they have no objections to serving in any war, providing that war will serve a purpose to our country. I have every faith in the world in our young people."

In the 1700s a Yankee farmer stirred up red oxide of iron, lime and skim milk and painted the world's first red barn.

Boy Certified To Stand Trial As an Adult

MARYVILLE, Mo. (AP) — The accused slayer of four members of a Conception, Mo., family, Benedict L. Kemper, 15, was certified Wednesday to stand trial as an adult.

Kemper is charged with the rifle slayings of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Merrigan and their two teen-age children, classmates of Kemper.

Bomb Trial Results In Convictions

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Three men accused of conspiring to make and possess bombs in 1970 were convicted on seven of nine counts Wednesday evening by a U.S. District Court jury here.

Randolph E. Gould, 23; Martin L. Baumgarten, 25, and Richard L. Stanley, 22, were convicted of conspiracy charges. Baumgarten and Stanley were also found guilty of aiding and abetting Arnold Stead, 25, in making a pipe bomb on three occasions.

Members of their families wept as the three defendants sat motionless. Among the spectators was former Kansas City school teacher Kenneth Sandusky, 25, one of the original four men on trial in the bomb conspiracy before he was released May 3 on a directed verdict of acquittal by Judge William H. Becker.

The three defendants were released on their own recognizance pending a pre-sentence investigation.

Program Is Successful

By DENISE GROTZINGER
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

The Sedalia Head Start Program wasn't established to teach the children how to read and write but to teach them how to get along with each other socially, according to Miss Betty Taylor, 217 West Johnson. She is one of two teachers at Head Start and instructs a class of 20 children between the ages of three and five. The kids attend from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and are served a hot lunch before going home.

While in Head Start the children learn by doing. They are read to, they play games to music and work with different crafts. Play periods of 15 to 25 minutes a day give them an opportunity to play on swings, tricycles and monkey bars when the weather permits.

The kids are taken to doctors and dentists for physicals and dental work by the community aide. She also visits the homes of the children to promote good communication and understanding between the parents and the program.

Various organizations provide materials and funds to take trips and buy equipment. Recently the class traveled to Warrensburg by train and a trip to Swope Park Zoo, Kansas City is planned for May 16.

The 40 children enrolled are taught by two teachers and two aides. According to Mrs. Elveria Satterwhite, Route 1, teachers are required to have two years of college or the equivalent in working with preschool children. One of the teachers, Mrs. Satterwhite, is sometimes assisted by volunteers and members of the Neighborhood Youth Corp.

and money which the parents of the head start students raise." According to Mrs. Newell, who is the community aide, this relates the operation of the program to the community in which it is located.

Established in Sedalia for six years, Head Start was originally based in Hubbard School. The program was moved to St. Patrick's school in September of 1972 and is expected to stay when the Community Center is completed at that location.

Slaughtering and Processing Is a Low-profit Operation

By JUDY HENRY
Emporia Gazette
For The Associated Press

EMPORIA, Kan. (AP) — Beef slaughtering and processing is a low-profit operation, industry sources say, even with the rising meat prices today.

The profit beef packers earn doesn't compare with other industries — historically, they have a 1 per cent profit return, said Charles Wilson, Director of Economic Research for Iowa Beef Processors (IBP), the world's largest beef slaughtering operation.

IBP has eight plants in Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Minnesota, although only the plants in Emporia and Dakota City, Neb., process the beef after slaughtering. The Emporia plant slaughters 2,712 head of cattle daily. The animals, whose average weight is about 1,050 pounds, come from feedlots and individual feeders in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, South Dakota, Iowa and Minnesota.

IBP employs 70 seasoned cattlemen who reside in the 10-state area to buy cattle from the feedlots and buyers, said Dennis Gaukel, IBP Public Relations Director. The men use radio and telephone-equipped cars so they are in constant contact with the procurement department at Dakota City. The same communications network is interconnected with all the plants. Gaukel said IBP has one of the largest privately owned communication networks in the country.

Each buyer is responsible for buying and finding cattle in his area, regardless of the cattle source. They search for cattle with as little fat as possible, so the carcasses will yield a cutability grade of two or three. Buyers place competitive bids in accordance with instructions on quality and quantity they receive over the radio from Dakota City. The central office coordinates the beef buying process while the buyers are in the field.

After the buyers select and buy the cattle, which are acquired no more than 24 hours in advance, independent haulers truck the cattle to the appropriate plant.

The availability of cattle fluctuates. During the meat boycott there was a shortage of cattle, Gaukel said, but part of the cause might have been the bad winter and spring.

The price of the live animals varies daily, depending upon the market. Recently, an average price for choice beef has been about $45 a hundredweight, or 45 cents a pound, making a 1,050 pound steer cost $472.50. Each lot of IBP cattle is weighed together, the animals are counted, and the lot remains together throughout the slaughter and processing operations. This eases calculations of the live weight, the processed carcass weight and the final product. Profit per animal can be figured from these data, as can the best cattle producers.

IBP's Emporia plant has a slaughter division, a processing division and a rendering section. After a steer is killed, the hide, head and internal organs are removed as the carcass moves down a pulley line.

The carcasses are split into sides, and the sides are washed and draped in shrouds, ready for the "hotbox," where they are refrigerated for 24 hours. The tongue, and other usable meat are removed from the head. Men working at conveyor belts separate and clean the organs. One man shears tripe to make surgical sutures.

By the time the dressed carcass reaches the "hotbox," it weighs about 62 per cent of the live weight, or 651 pounds for a 1,050 pound live steer. The price per pound has now risen to 72½ cents because of the shrinkage and slaughtering losses. The figures are national averages, Wilson said, and fluctuate with the daily market prices.

Wilson said the profits in the beef processing industry are difficult to calculate, because the live animals are bought at one day's market price and the carcasses or meat products are sold on different days, by which time the market price may rise or fall. Another factor is meat quality — good or choice, which bring different prices — which is determined after slaughter. The quality of live animals is judged by educated guessing.

After the beef sides are cooled for 24 hours, they are inspected and graded. Government inspectors place a grade on the meat — good or choice — and also a cutability number, ranging from one to five. Meat color and fat marbling are two factors in grading, and cutability reflects the amount of fat surrounding the meat.

The carcasses, still on pull-eyes, move through the processing line, where hair, dirt and bruises are trimmed. The side is cut at strategic places, and then electrical saws start breaking the side into pieces.

IBP has advanced the concept of "boxed beef," or breaking the side down into seven primal cuts before it is shipped. Excess fat and bone are trimmed before the meat is boxed, which cuts shipping costs. IBP officials claim its process reduces cost to the retailer, meat has a longer storage life, less shrinkage occurs, rewrap costs are lower and boxed beef requires less storage space than a side of beef.

As the sides are broken down into hindquarters, forequarters and smaller pieces, they move down conveyor belts on an assembly line. One line breaks down the loin, another assembly line takes care of the chuck, and other lines carve other pieces. Each assembly line packages and vacuum seals the meat from its line, and then the meat moves through a shrink tunnel, set at 180 degrees. The meat is weighed, placed in boxes, and sent to refrigerated storage for shipment. The boxed beef is sold primarily in carload lots to supermarkets or hotels and restaurants.

One animal will yield about 547 pounds of meat, according to August R. Ring, vice-president of customer relations.

At this point the average price per pound has risen to about 87 cents Wilson said. On a national basis processors are losing money now, Wilson said, because of the price ceiling. Meat prices fluctuate with the season, he said, and the ceiling doesn't allow increased prices on some meats to counterbalance lower prices on out-of-season meats.

Emporia also has a smaller packing plant, Fanestil Packing Co., which slaughters about 50 head of cattle a day. A spokesman for the company said 75 per cent of the production is pork, although 50 per cent of the sales are beef.

Beef is slaughtered much the same way as it is at IBP, and the sides are refrigerated overnight, by which time they have shrunk by 40 per cent. The sides are broken down into forequarters and hindquarters for sale to retailers and restaurants, according to the spokesman. Sometimes, he said, the sides are broken down into steaks and roasts if the restaurants request it.

After the beef is inspected, it is shipped by refrigerated trucks to buyers within a 100-mile radius of Emporia. Fanestil buys the cattle from two or three cattle producers in the Flint Hills.

According to the spokesman choice beef costs 74 cents a pound, which is the current market rate. It also costs Fanestil 74 cents a pound to buy and slaughter the cattle, he said. He said profit was derived from the sale of the extra products. Hides are sold for $15 each, the 12-pound liver and the three-pound heart are sold for 65 cents a pound, and the offal and inedible material are sold for 4 cents a pound to soap and feed manufacturers.

Wilson, commenting on the beef processing industry, said, "You just hope that when you average it out you get a profit."

On Duty

James Elmer Freeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert J. H. Freeman, Route 2, Green Ridge, recently reported for active duty in the U.S. Navy and is undergoing basic training at the U.S. Navy Recruiting Center in San Diego.

Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Nobody Likes Bad Breath

Dear Dr. Lamb — What in most instances, causes bad breath? If a person has bad breath, how should he be told? And what should he do if he is already using mouth wash, breath refreshers, etc.? Can it usually be prevented by keeping the bowels open? How can a person know whether or not he has bad breath?

Dear Reader — How to tell a person he has bad breath depends a lot on the individual. Usually you do the person a favor by telling him because, if he isn't told, he often doesn't know it. Bad breath can detract significantly from either a man's or woman's appearance and limit their business and personal opportunities. No one likes to be knocked over with strong breath.

Doing something about it isn't always so easy. The first step is finding out what causes it. This means a fairly good medical examination. Bad breath can be caused by poor teeth, particularly pyorrhea and infections around the teeth. Even though the teeth may be regularly brushed, the pyorrhea process will continue to produce bad odors unless it is properly treated. Some individuals are careful about brushing the teeth but pay no attention to the tongue. It accumulates food products and is often a source of bad breath. You can brush the tongue just as you brush the teeth and a little tooth paste on the brush will help.

Some individuals have ear, nose, and throat problems, including old, infected tonsils, infected sinuses and sinusitis. It may be necessary to remove diseased tonsils, or improve the drainage from the sinuses through proper treatment. Infected sinuses may need medication.

Below this level you could have changes in the breath associated with the body chemistry. There are persons with uncontrolled diabetes or advanced liver disease who can be detected by their breath because of chemical changes. The expired air contains some of these chemicals and you can smell alcohol on a person's breath.

Certain diseases of the lungs, particularly associated with infections, can cause bad breath. Then there is the large group of digestive disturbances which contribute to the problem. Some women have this problem, particularly at the time of their menses or just before their menses.

As you can see, it is not such a simple problem as you might imagine, and the first step is a good medical examination, which should include an evaluation of the sinuses, teeth, lungs and digestive tract as possible sources of the bad breath.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I had a mole removed from under my arm in 1967. Now, I notice this mole has grown back in the same place. Is this something I should worry about? It is in an awkward place. That's why I had it removed in the first place. Please give me your advice on this matter.

Dear Reader — By all means go back to your doctor and let him examine it. Anyone who has a mole removed, and it recurs in the same spot, should have it looked at as soon as possible. Any mole which is in an awkward place, as you described it, meaning a place where it can be irritated such as being shaved or rubbed by a strap or belt, should be removed anyway.

Ann Landers

Suggests She Talk With Hubby First

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is in his early 40s, goodlooking, and a key executive in this town. We have a good life, two lovely teenagers and I never thought I had anything to worry about.

To my surprise I learned six months ago that he has been seeing a woman one night a week, at her apartment. She is also an executive with the firm, and eight or 10 years older than he is. They never go anywhere together — just have this weekly tryst.

I don't want a separation or a divorce, and I'm sure he would never leave me. But I'm afraid he might be discovered by the town busybodies. It would ruin his reputation and possibly jeopardize his position with the company.

I've thought of going to the president of the firm and asking him to break up the twosome to prevent a possible scandal. I know the man well and can trust him not to betray me. — EO

Dear EO: Interesting that you are concerned about being "betrayed," yet you do not view your plan to tell on your husband as a betrayal of HIM. My advice is to stay away from the president and talk to your husband.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 15-year-old daughter all of a sudden stopped everything. She was an A student and stopped studying. Her piano hasn't been touched in months. She used to take swimming instructions and was championship material. She has stopped going to the pool.

All she is interested in is boys and driving the car. I've detected faint whiffs of liquor on her breath. Her father is disgusted with her. I am trying to make him believe she is "going through a stage" although I'm beginning to wonder. Her curfew is 11:00 p.m. and she always makes it. She helps in the house and we get along fine. How strict should I be? — Winnipeg Mom

Dear Mom: The girl might be testing to see how far she can go — and, in my opinion, you've let her go too far. Have a talk. Tell her she must get back to studying, plus either swimming or the piano. Let her choose. She should not be going out on school nights, except for special occasions. If you have any real evidence that she's been drinking, I suggest counseling. This is a serious matter at age 15.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently my husband and I took our children to see a G-rated movie at the local theater. We enjoyed it thoroughly, and so did the children. But the previews of the coming attraction were so explicitly sexy that my husband and I were embarrassed to death. We saw several parents yanking their kids out of there, but we decided to sit it out.

A few weeks ago we had the same experience, only it wasn't sex stuff, it was bloody violence. I actually became nauseated.

I telephoned the theater manager about the last episode and he said they have no control over the previews, that they get the whole package and there is no way to cut it out of the reel. It seems to me, Ann, that a theater manager could do something to protect his customers against unexpected embarrassment. Please check and let me know. — Red-Faced In Durham

Dear Red: According to my Chicago experts, theater managers have a choice between "red-banded" or "green-banded" previews. No manager need show a preview that will embarrass parents. My advice is to inform the manager that you are aware of these facts.

What's prudish? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Blood donor Marianne Cella, an assistant "bunny mother" at the Playboy Club in McAfee, N.J., got more than she bargained for recently, by the expression on her face, when she gave blood for the six-year-old son of a fellow bunny. The boy is hospitalized at a New York hospital, suffering from leukemia. Employees at the club donated 150 pints of blood. (UPI)

Attempted Murder Charged

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Charles L. Peabody, 38, the former financial aid director for the State Community College here, was charged with attempted murder Wednesday in connection with the shooting Monday of Jerry Jones, 21, of East St. Louis.

Police said Jones was found in an oil drainage ditch at Sauge, Ill., Monday morning. He had his hands tied in front of him and had apparently been shot three times in the back with a shotgun, officers said.

Police said Jones, who was in critical condition at a St. Louis hospital, could not make a statement and Peabody refused to.

Peabody was arrested Tuesday by Illinois State Police in East St. Louis.

Vandegrift Followed Grandfather

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grandson of a Confederate soldier, Marine Corps Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift was weaned to a military tradition as a child on tales of the Civil War.

"My grandfather fought in the Confederate army and from the time I was a youngster listening to his stories of the war I wanted to be a military man," he once said.

Vandegrift died Tuesday at 86. He had been hospitalized with an illness at Bethesda Naval Hospital in nearby Bethesda, Md.

He had served as a commandant of the Marines and led the American invasion of Guadalcanal credited with up-setting for the first time the Japanese timetable for victory in World War II.

The Southern-born Vandegrift was an admirer of Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee and liked to cite Lee's principle of being unwilling to sacrifice the life of a single one of his men.

He was a major general at the time of Guadalcanal and won the Congressional Medal of Honor and the Navy Cross for his leadership in the fight to take the island.

In 1944 Vandegrift was named commandant. He held the job until his retirement in 1948.

Vandegrift will be buried at Arlington National Cemetery, at a time to be announced.

He is survived by his widow, Kathryn; a stepson, William G. McDaniell of Winston-Salem, N.C.; eight grandchildren and a great grandchild.

Big Increase In Food Prices Is Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supermarket food prices appear to be heading this year for their biggest increase in two decades, say Department of Agriculture officials.

But they say most of the increase already has taken place and a leveling off may occur.

Figures released Tuesday, the first since February, indicate supermarket food prices will increase 10 per cent overall for the year—the biggest jump since 11 per cent was posted in 1951.

Over-all food prices are expected to increase by 9 per cent over the year, with restaurant prices increasing 5.5 per cent.

Center for Disease Control Is Closing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Technical Development Laboratory of the Center for Disease Control in Kansas City, Kan., will be closed effective Sept. 30, according to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The department said Tuesday it is closing six field installations and eliminating nearly 1,200 jobs in a continuing program of budget cut-backs.

Edna M. Franklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Franklin, 300 East 25th, left Wednesday for an assignment with the Excelsior Springs Job Corps Center for Women, where she plans to train in clerical and teacher's aide fields.

The local branch of the Missouri Division of Employment Security was instrumental in making the placement, it was reported.

Pre-Enrollment Set For Kindergarten

BUNCETON — Pre-enrollment for kindergarten classes will be held from 12:30 to 3:15 p.m. Friday at the school here, it was reported Wednesday.

School officials have requested that parents bring birth certificates and immunization records when their children are enrolled. Enrollment will be held in the kindergarten room of the school, according to Jennings McKee, superintendent.

Pot Smoking Admitted At Camp David

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the military men assigned to Camp David have admitted using marijuana while guarding the presidential retreat in the Maryland mountains, the Pentagon says.

The Defense Department said Tuesday that it had removed 28 Marines and 18 Navy personnel from Camp David duty following an investigation into marijuana use there. President Nixon frequently works at Camp David, as did his three immediate predecessors.

"Some of the personnel transferred admitted use of marijuana at some time during their assignment," said the Pentagon. "Others were either suspected of use or provided information used during the investigation."

The Pentagon did not name those who admitted to using marijuana, nor did it disclose the number.

The servicemen were assigned to the Navy Support Activity at Thurmont, Md. That unit is responsible for maintenance and security at Camp David, which has been used by several presidents as a retreat.

Test Yourself On Statements

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Test yourself. There's a good chance that you believe one or more of the following statements:

—We don't have any more family farmers in this country. Oh, a few, of course, but the big corporations have taken over and they've pretty much run the little fellow out of business.

The facts dispute this widely held notion. Data from the 1969 census aren't available yet, but those who follow the trends, such as the Conference Board, believe that 95 per cent of farms are still family-operated.

That was the percentage found in other studies made in 1949, 1959 and 1964, even though there was a sharp decrease in the number of farms — from 6,350,000 in 1940 to 2,876,000 in 1970.

There are several reasons why the belief has taken hold. One is that the average farm size has grown from 175 acres to about 390 acres in the past 30 years or so. Another is that the 5 per cent nonfamily farms account for a big share of production — 35 per cent in 1964.

The fact is that many of the large corporations that did go into farming found it not nearly as profitable as they had expected, and some of them now believe that there may be size limitations on the efficient farm.

What is a family farm? According to the Agriculture Department it is "an agricultural business in which the operator is a risk-taking manager, who, with his family, does more than half of the farm work."

—The reason for our high food prices is the middleman. He's got a great big appetite for money, and he's making all of us pay through the nose.

The explanation isn't that simple. There's no denying that in recent years the foods that leave the farmer's lands go through many processes that add to delivery cost. But there's little evidence of any profiteering.

First National City Bank notes that civilian spending for farm foods in 1971 totaled $111.1 billion, an increase of $44.2 billion over 1960. Of this increase, farmers received only $13.5 billion, the middleman $30.7 billion.

However, little of this increase seems to be reflected in middleman profits. It seems there are more and more middlemen to prepare and distribute foods that once were delivered raw. And the middleman's expenses also have risen.

In summary: True, the transporting, processing and distribution of foods is eating up a lot more of the food dollar. But rather than blaming any one group, perhaps you should accuse our changing customs and appetites.

—By any measure, General Motors and American Telephone & Telegraph are the largest companies in the United States, in fact, the largest in the entire world. It's been that way for years.

Times change and that statement isn't true today. GM might be the largest manufacturer and have the greatest profits. And AT&T might have the greatest assets and the largest number of shareholders, but...

International Business Machines has the greatest market value of any company in the world, with investors giving it a price of $47.8 billion. That's the figure you'll arrive at by multiplying price per share by shares outstanding.

That price is almost double the combined market value of AT&T and GM. AT&T is in second place, with a value of $28.79 billion. GM is in fifth, with market value of $20.42 billion.

In between, in a compilation by Standard & Poor's, are Eastman Kodak, at $21.81 billion and Exxon, at $21.53 billion.

Policing, Cleanup Remain

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — The costly 70-day confrontation between Indian militants and the government at Wounded Knee has ended, but the tasks of policing and cleaning up the village remain.

Kent Frizzell, Interior Department solicitor, estimates the government's cost since the start of the siege at $5 million to $7 million.

Most of this would be the overtime pay and living expenses of federal negotiators and lawmen, along with the costs of transporting men and equipment to the tiny southwestern South Dakota Indian reservation town.

Stan Lyman, superintendent of the Pine Ridge Reservation, said a preliminary survey showed that in addition to the government costs, it would take $240,000 to put houses in the village back into livable condition.

Psychiatric Examination Set for Boy

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A psychiatric commission was appointed Wednesday for a 16-year-old boy charged with six counts of first-degree murder following an apartment house fire here April 28 in which six elderly women died.

Dean J. Smith, Wyandotte County juvenile judge, set an examination for Saturday morning to determine the boy's fitness to aid in his own defense.

An adjudication hearing has been set for Tuesday to determine whether the boy should be tried as an adult.

Jimmy Louis Massey, 18, an alleged companion of the 16-year-old, is scheduled for a preliminary hearing Tuesday morning in Wyandotte County magistrate court.

Massey is also charged with six counts of first-degree murder and with arson and attempted arson in connection with the blaze.

He is being held in the Wyandotte County jail on $50,000 bond.

News Council can filled a needed role

The formation of a National News Council, announced Tuesday, can be good or bad news, depending upon one's point of view.

Composed of 15 members, nine of which are "public," with six from the media, the council's role will be to investigate complaints regarding accuracy and fairness of news coverage by news suppliers that operate nationally in scope (wire services, radio and television networks, selected national news publications).

The council also will examine and report on what it sees as threats to freedom of the press. It will be totally independent of government, receiving its funding from a consortium of private foundations, and will have no punitive powers other than the right to publicly reveal its findings.

Some respected segments of the American press view with alarm the creation of a National News Council; others have said they will not cooperate with it. The feeling seems to be that no matter how worthy its intentions, the council will have the effect of "taming" the press and infringing upon its constitutional freedoms.

There may well be some grounds for these fears, but we are willing to give the National News Council a try. If it works to the benefit of both the public and the media, so much the better. If it fails, or, as seems more likely, lapses into irrelevancy, then what has been lost?

We definitely need to try something, since for some years now it has been evident that all is not well between the American people and their press. Recent polls have shown that the public holds the news media in rather low esteem; this loss of confidence does not augur well for our democratic institutions.

If the National Press Council can serve as a forum to promote understanding between a free press and a free people, then it will serve an important purpose.

Art Buchwald

Richard the Third in modern version

WASHINGTON — The setting is the palace at Key Biscayne where Richard III has retired to contemplate his next move.

(Enter the Duke of Ziegler.)

Ziegler: My Lord . . .

Buchwald

Richard: Good news or bad news that thou com'st in so bluntly?

Ziegler: Bad news, my Lord. Dean has fled to Maryland; Magruder sings in Virginia, and the palace guard is confessing in chorus.

Richard: Zounds! I cannot tell if to depart in silence, or bitterly to speak in gross reproach. Yet so much is my poverty of spirit, so mighty and so many my defects, that I would rather hide me from my greatness. What say the citizens, dear Ziegler?

Ziegler: The citizens are mum, my Lord, except for those who would impeach thy motives at the Watergate.

Richard: They do my wrong and I will not endure it! Who is it that complains unto the king that I forsooth am stern and love them not? By the Holy Graham, they love his grace but lightly that fill his ears with such dissident rumors. A plague upon them all!

Ziegler: What shall I tell the citizens, my Lord?

Richard: Since you will buckle fortune on my back, to bear her burden, wh'e I will or no, I must have patience to endure the load; but if black scandal or foul-faced reproach attend the sequel of this sordid affair, your mere enforcement shall acquaintance me from all the impure blots and stains thereof.

Ziegler: I will say, my Lord, you have no comment. (He exits)

(Enter Baron Ehrlichman and Baron Haldeman, guarded by a lieutenant from the tower.)

Ehrlichman: My Lord, we must depart purpose. Farewell.

Haldeman: And to that end we wish your Lordship here t' avoid the censures of the carping world.

Richard: Well, your imprisonment shall not be long; I will deliver you or else lie for you. Meantime have patience. Now I'll strive with troubled thoughts to take a nap, lest leaden slumber peise me down tomorrow. Farewell, dear Haldeman and Ehrlichman, you served me well, though you cannot serve me last.

(Ehrlichman and Haldeman exit. Richard goes to sleep.)

(Enter the ghost of the Earl of Muskier.)

Ghost of Muskier: Let me sit heavy on thy soul. Think how thou stab'd'st me in the prime of my career, at Manchester and other places too long to mention. Be cheerful, Richard, I shall forget you not.

(Enter the Ghost of McGovern of Dakota.)

Ghost of McGovern: When I was mortal, by thee my anointed campaign was punched full of deadly holes. Think of me, dear Richard, virtuous and holy, when justice yields its blade. Live and flourish!

(The ghosts vanish. Richard starts out of his dream.)

Richard: Alas, I am a villain. Yet I lie I am not. My conscience hath a thousand several tongues and every tongue brings in a several tale. And every tale condemns me for a villain. Perjury, perjury in the highest degree!

(Enter the Duke of Rebozo.)

Richard: A horse! A horse! My kingdom for a horse!

Rebozo: Withdraw, my Lord. I will help you to a horse.

Richard: Slave, I have set my life upon a cast, and I will stand the hazard of the die. I have slain six crises in the past. Today shall be my seventh. A horse! A horse! My kingdom for a horse!

(Enter a messenger.)

Messenger: My gracious Sovereign . . .

Richard: Out with it! What bad news now?

Messenger: The Duchess of Mitchell has called for your head.

Richard: Zounds! By all that is holy, this plot has gone too far!

The odor arising from the Pearl river, and which greets the olfactories of the Ohio street wayfarer, is not calculated to remind one of orange and magnolia groves when in full bloom. Nay, verily; but on the contrary, the uninitiated is liable to be impressed with the idea that a Limburger cheese manufactory is running in full blast, under double pressure, somewhere near the rear of the Postoffice building.

A conservative view

Is OTA a lobby for left?

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

It drew very little attention when it came into being last October, but Sen. Edward Kennedy's new Office of Technology Assessment now is triggering alarm bells on Capitol Hill. Conservatives in both parties are wondering if they have created, in a fit of absentmindedness, a tax-paid lobby for liberal causes.

Kilpatrick

Thus far the OTA exists mainly on paper. It seems to be generally understood that $5 million will be sought for its operations in the 1973-74 fiscal year. But no funds have yet been authorized or appropriated. Hearings on the request have not been scheduled, but can be expected later this month.

The embarrassing truth, sad to say, is that we watchdogs of the press must have been baying on other trails when the "Technology Assessment Act of 1972" became law on Oct. 13. The presidential campaign was then at full speed. Negotiations with the North Vietnamese were much in the news. The House and Senate were crunching toward adjournment, gobbling down bills as fast as the yeas and nays could be ordered. Most of us missed this act altogether.

On paper, the idea of an Office of Technology Assessment has a plausible appeal. Only a handful of congressmen have professional training in science. Most members sit in numb silence when the bureaucracy sends witnesses to testify on space exploration, weapons systems, medical research and the like. The staffs of standing committees have developed some expertise in these arcane fields, but they generally are overworked and ill-equipped for full-blown research.

In an effort to close the ignorance gap, Senator Kennedy — and others — thought up the OTA. The office would provide the Congress with "competent, unbiased information concerning the physical, biological, economic, social, and political effects" of technological proposals. The office would not wait upon the introduction of bills. It would seek to anticipate technological areas of probable legislative activity, in order to keep Congress informed on the impact, for example, of new pesticides or super-tankers.

So far, so good. But it is apparent, on a close reading of the act, that the OTA has virtually unlimited jurisdiction. It can initiate studies on any matter under moon or sun. It can explore fields of legislative concern that in the past have been the property of 39 committees and subcommittees and four joint committees. All that is required is that OTA's board direct that a study be made.

The board is to consist of six senators and six representatives. In odd-numbered Congresses, the chairman will come from the Senate, in even-numbered Congresses the House. Senator Kennedy has been named as the board's first chairman.

The Senate contingent includes, in addition to Kennedy, three other certified liberals (Case of New Jersey, Humphrey of Minnesota, and Schweiker of Pennsylvania), one moderate (Hollings of South Carolina) and one conservative (Dominick of Colorado). The House contingent is somewhat better balanced, but the bias of the policy-making board, charged with preparing these unbiased reports, is as plain as the tilt of the Tower of Pisa.

As newsmen have begun belatedly to ask questions, some familiar names have cropped up. Kennedy's choice for a full-time $400,000 director reportedly is Emilio Daddario, former Connecticut congressman, a consistent dove on defense legislation. An OTA advisory council, according to Human Events, probably will include such disarmament spokesmen as Herbert York and Jerome Wiesner. The left-leaning Federation of American Scientists, which has been plugging hard for OTA, reasonably may be expected to play a leading role in its operations.

One hopes not to be paranoid about these things. A truly unbiased Office of Technology Assessment, operating with the professional neutrality of the General Accounting Office, could perform a useful service. But an OTA that functioned chiefly as a liberal lobby, fluttering over every dovish and dogooder cause that comes along, would be hard to take. We have quite enough of these as it is.

The Hitler government protests that it has not been doing what the foreign press says it has been doing. . . The German newspapers are no witnesses; they are muzzled. . . Stories of Nazi outrages are not out of the whole cloth; they are based on truth. Since the Hitler government operates a strict censorship, news made in Germany must be taken with much salt. The world cannot learn the whole truth in Germany when available reports are pre-digested.

WASHINGTON — We now have evidence that ex-White House counsel John Dean directed not only the Watergate cover-up but the earlier ITT cover-up as well. In both cases, he obstructed investigators, suppressed evidence and tried to influence the testimony.

Here's what we have now learned about his ITT operation:

✓ During the ITT hearings, he would slip up to Capitol Hill and operate out of Vice President Agnew's office. On one occasion, Dean phoned the Senate Judiciary Committee and asked a secretary to deliver a message to attorney Edward P. Taptich. The lawyer, formerly associated in the same law firm with Dean, represented ITT consultant Jack Gleason, who had been called to testify. The secretary handed Taptich a note, asking him to contact Dean in the vice president's office.

In these august quarters, the two men discussed what Gleason might be asked on the witness stand. Then Taptich huddled with his client before the testimony.

✓ As part of our case against ITT, we turned over to the Senate the celebrated Dita Beard memo, which linked the settlement of ITT's antitrust troubles with a $400,000 commitment to help finance the Republican convention. The Senate asked the FBI to determine whether the memo was a forgery and got back a report that it was written on Dita Beard's typewriter with the ribbon she was using on the day it was dated.

But unknown to the senators, Dean asked acting FBI chief L. Patrick Gray for the memo. Not long after Gray delivered the memo to Dean, it was sneaked to ITT which hired its own experts to try to prove it was a forgery.

✓ Howard Hunt, who earlier burglarized the offices of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist and later helped plot the Watergate break-in, also was assigned to the ITT case. He reported that Dita Beard had fabricated her memo to blackmail her bosses.

White House aide Charles Colson dispatched Hunt, wearing a preposterous red wig, to Denver with a message for Dita Beard that it would not be held against her if she would confess the alleged forgery. But the indomitable Dita insisted to Hunt that the memo was authentic. It came as a total surprise to the White House when she later hedged.

Articles degrading to the President

You have recently headlined articles which were, in effect, downgrading to our President of the United States. You surely knew these would arouse the ire of many Sedalians. I have the faith that many citizens are not of the heartless sort. What do doubt and condemnation accomplish? Such a lack of trust only places a heavy burden upon the person who is attacked. It brings him sorrow and disappointment, thereby weakening his efforts to a certain extent.

Constructive forces move forward on trust and co-operation. Do some citizens wish to weaken the foundations of our nation by creating dissension and distrust? Can the critics appreciate the President's prayer, "God bless America, and each one of you"? Do they have the love and humility to pray for blessings upon a President who obviously is seeking to make the right decisions?

Billy Graham, whom I believe to be the greatest non-denominational evangelist of all time, says President Nixon has his prayers. President Nixon explained that he was putting his country ahead of politics when he delegated authority to others during his last campaign, while his attention was centered upon attaining his greatest goal: that of world peace. He said he was led to believe certain things by those in whom he placed trust. Being great himself, he did not doubt his friends.

The image of the disgruntled Democrats who chose the wrong candidate is not enhanced by their trying to dishonor ALL the highest officials of the party in power. I which had been locked in a special safe, were hand-carried in a manila envelope to Erickson on Oct. 6. The 34 cartons were delivered in a rented truck the same day.

The House Commerce Committee is quietly investigating the ITT cover-up. Both Dean and Erickson probably will be called as witnesses.

Footnote: My associate Less Whitten asked Erickson, no longer in the Justice Department, whether Dean had contacted him about the ITT documents. "I have no recollection," said Erickson. "John (Dean) and I talked a lot. I worked with John a great deal." But Casey said he was "pretty near sure" that Dean had called Erickson.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Philadelphia Zoological Garden is the oldest zoo in the U.S. and was opened to the public July 1, 1874. The World Almanac recalls. That year its feature attractions were a bear pit and lion house. Recently the zoo opened a new reptile house for more than 300 species of animals, ranging from a 3-inch banded gecko lizard to an 11-foot, 485-pound American crocodile.

am not inferring that they may not someday produce a worthy candidate who is great enough to put country before politics.

I honor President Nixon as a great man who is successfully shouldering enormous world-wide responsibilities.

Roger Garlich, director of the Children's Therapy Center, chats with Gary Evert, left, president of the Sedalia Jaycees, during a tour of the Virginia Flower Child Development and Rehabilitation Center, under construction at 14th and Ingram. The Jaycees recently donated the proceeds from the 17th Annual TV Auction, totalling $7,860, to the Center. The building, which Garlich estimates is about 25 per cent complete, is scheduled to be finished by mid-summer. At right in the photo is John Gruenloh, chairman of the TV auction. ## Club's Assessment Rate Is Increased Pettis County Assessor Jerry Trotter said Wednesday that he raised the assessment of the Sedalia Country Club from $16,500 to $70,000 recently because two other new country clubs were assessed for the first time this year at comparable amounts.

Trotter's recent reassessment of the country club, at 2800 South Limit, resulted in a letter being sent to club patrons by club president Robert W. Mason. He indicated in the letter that the club would appeal the decision to the Board of Equalization in July.

Trotter said that "he couldn't see them (Sedalia Country Club) getting by at $16,500" when the Walnut Hills Country Club was assessed for $95,000 and the Westmoreland Country Club at $45,000.

"They've been low for years," he said, referring to the Sedalia Country Club. "There's no question about it."

Man Sentenced For Manslaughter In Child's Death

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lamar Houston, 26, of St. Louis, was sentenced to 10 years in prison Wednesday after he pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of manslaughter in connection with the beating death of his 3-year-old stepdaughter.

Houston was charged with first-degree murder after the child died at a city hospital three days after he brought her to the facility in an unconscious state.

He pleaded guilty to the reduced charge of manslaughter and was sentenced to the maximum penalty under law.

Present Library Plaque

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — A plaque bearing the famous Chicago Daily Tribune headline "Dewey defeats Truman" was presented Wednesday to the Harry S. Truman Library.

Two Chicago Tribune executives, Harold Grumhaus, chairman and chief executive officer of the Tribune Company, and Clayton Kirkpatrick, editor of the Tribune, made the presentation.

The large walnut plaque includes a copper engraving of the headline and also an engraving of the famous photograph showing Truman displaying the Nov. 3, 1949 headline to onlookers at St. Louis

Union Station. It will hang in the library's newest exhibit of memorabilia from the 1948 whistle stop campaign.

Grumhaus called the headline "the most inaccurate ever published by the Chicago Tribune." He said the headline only appeared on 30,000 copies of the newspaper's second edition.

Tuna Not Connected With Death

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Tests conducted on Chicken of the Sea tuna indicate the tuna had no connection with the death of a Moline, Ill., woman last Thursday, the Ralston Purina Co. of St. Louis said Wednesday.

About 24,000 cans of the product were recalled by Ralston after Rock Island County Coroner Jim Shaw said Mildred Rodts, 53, was apparently poisoned by a can of tuna she prepared in a salad the day before.

"The findings of all various agencies and our independent analysis indicate Chicken of the Sea tuna was not a factor in this case," said W.M. Shapleigh, the firm's president.

He added that the U.S. Food and Drug Administration informed Ralston Purina that its tests also showed no relationship between the tuna and Mrs. Rodts' death.

The Illinois Department of Health said Wednesday preliminary tests show no evidence of botulism or other contamination. Shaw, however, was still awaiting the results of a toxicity lab test. Shapleigh said Ralston recalled the cans of tuna on a voluntary basis to assure customers the product was safe.

"It is our sincere hope that this action and the results of the tests will give all of our customers a deeper sense of faith in the Ralston Purina Company," he said.

Riled Tigers Trip KC, 4-1

Added Attractions Upstage Royals Loss

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ike Brown of the Detroit Tigers may have set a major league record Wednesday night when he broke Lou Piniella's bat.

Brown, who didn't even get to play, stormed onto the field after Piniella, batting for the Kansas City Royals, let his bat fly in the direction of Detroit pitcher Jim Perry.

Brown whacked the bat against the ground twice and held only the handle in his hand. He is now 2-0 in bat breaking, having smashed the bat of Oakland's Bert Campaneris during the American League playoffs last fall.

The latest incident came during the seventh inning of the Tigers 4-1 victory over the Royals and also resulted in a second outburst during the ninth inning when a spectator heaved a full can of beer at Gates Brown while Detroit's designated hitter was at the plate.

The beer can fell only a few feet from Gates, and the spectator, arrested but not publicly identified immediately, apparently thought he was throwing at Ike.

After Piniella let his bat fly following a Perry pitch that brushed him back, players from both dugouts spilled onto the field.

"I don't think a guy should get away with throwing his bat at the pitcher," said Ike Brown. "Everybody knows he did it on purpose. If you've got any guts, go on out there to the mound and get the man but don't throw the bat."

Asked if he was showing improvement in his bat-busting role, Ike Brown smiled and said:

"I guess I'm pretty good but it took only one strike to break Campy's bat and two to break Piniella's."

Piniella, known for losing his bat on numerous previous occasions, had this to say: "Let's just leave it on the field. It's all forgotten."

Detroit Manager Billy Martin, never at a loss for words, admitted that Perry pitched very close to Piniella.

"The ball was close," Martin said, "and he (Piniella) probably threw the bat. I'm not accusing Piniella of doing it on purpose. Moving a guy back is part of the game. When the ball's not thrown at your head, you have no argument."

Martin, whose dugout was bombarded by pounding by nearby spectators, seemed more concerned about the near strike of the beer can.

"That's not baseball," he said. "You can boo and call the guys nasty names but don't throw at them. The dugout pounding? I don't mind that... let them pound all they want to. I've been through all this before."

The main event, the ball game, was almost upstaged by the added attractions. The game was a rematch of the one in Detroit April 27 when Steve Busby threw a no-hitter at the Tigers and Perry.

Busby was no mystery to the Bengals Wednesday night. Gates Brown—Not Ike, this time—aroused the gathering of 15,680 with one out in the first by spoiling Busby's hopes for a second no-hitter against Detroit with a single.

As far as the spectators were concerned, Gates was very much the culprit again in the third when his line drive single crashed off the left ankle of Busby, 3-3, who was unable to come back for the fourth. The blow sparked a one-run rally that vaulted the Tigers into a 3-1 lead, more than enough for Perry, 4-2.

Norm Cash of the Tigers homered for the fourth time this year in the eighth. The Royals' only run off Perry, who needed ninth inning help from John Hiller, was John May-berry's eighth homer in the fourth.

Busby said he was "getting behind a little more often than I did in Detroit. In Detroit, I came up with the good pitch when I got behind. I was throwing a little too fine tonight. The law of averages caught up with me in a hurry."

Martin had a slightly different explanation of the difference between the no-hit Busby and loser Busby:

"Busby pitched a no-hitter in Detroit and tonight we hit him."

Carlton Rapped

Bench Knocks in Seven For Reds Against Phils

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Johnny Bench is alive and well... in Philadelphia, of all places.

"Maybe now this will remove all doubts about my operation," the Cincinnati strongboy said Wednesday night after driving in seven runs as he blasted three homers off Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton and, counting a homer his last time at bat Tuesday night, equaled the major league record of four in a row.

"Personally," he added, "I don't pay any attention to it any more."

The 25-year-old catcher, twice the National League's Most Valuable Player, underwent lung surgery last December for removal of a benign lesion.

Despite his record-matching slugging Wednesday night, the Reds needed a tie-breaking two-run homer by Dave Concepcion in the ninth inning to beat the Phillies 9-7.

Elsewhere, St. Louis defeated San Francisco 3-1, Los Angeles held off Pittsburgh 8-5, the Chicago Cubs whipped San Diego 9-2 and the New York Mets trounced Atlanta 8-1. The Houston-Montreal game was rained out.

American League scores: Oakland 4, Baltimore 3 in 10 innings; Detroit 4, Kansas City 1; Milwaukee 5, Texas 1; Cleveland 10, California 3; New York 2, Minnesota 0. Boston and Chicago were not scheduled.

It was the second three-homer, seven-RBI game in Bench's career. The other time came on July 26, 1970 against St. Louis and Carlton, then with the Cardinals, was the victim that time, too.

"I got him good tonight," said Bench, who homered to center field with a man aboard in the first inning, walked in the third, hit a three-run homer to right field in the fifth and a two-run shot to left in the seventh.

"But he's got me easy a lot of days. He's a good pitcher. They don't have to worry about him. Remember, he's under a lot of pressure to have another good year."

Willie Crawford doubled in two runs to highlight a five-run fifth inning as Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh. The Pirates pounded out 14 hits against Claude Osteen, George Culver and Jim Brewer, including two-run homers by Manny Sanguillen and Bob Robertson, giving the Bucs 10 in the three-game set with the Dodgers. The loss was still Pittsburgh's 10th in the last 14 games.

Rick Monday hit a three-run homer and Billy Williams and Randy Hundley slammed two-run shots to power the Cubs over San Diego and into first place in the NL East by one game over Pittsburgh. Burt Hooton scattered six San Diego hits, including a home run by Fred Hilton.

Unbeaten Jerry Koosman fired a five-hitter for his fifth triumph and Rusty Staub homered as the Mets chased Carl Morton with four runs in the first two innings and beat Atlanta. Koosman held the Braves hitless until Oscar Brown doubled with two out in the sixth. Cincinnati's Jack Billingham is the league's only other five-game winner.

Signs Letter of Intent

Anderson Trades S-C Tigers Uniform for One at Missouri

The recruiting war is over for Kim Anderson, Sedalia Smith-Cotton's two-year all state center. The 6-9 star for coach Jim Dinsdale's Tigers has decided to exchange his Bengal uniform for one at the University of Missouri.

Anderson, who promised he would make up his mind by his 18th birthday, May 14, signed the national letter of intent Wednesday afternoon at his home.

Anderson, who scored a total of 1,563 points and pulled in 1,325 rebounds during his three years as a starter at Smith-Cotton, was one of the most sought after pivot-men in the nation, as well as the state.

Contacted by many schools, Anderson recently narrowed down his decision between Missouri, Memphis State, Vanderbilt, Kansas and Kansas State.

Present at the signing were Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Anderson, Dinsdale and head Mizzou coach Norm Stewart.

"It's been awfully hectic around here since the end of the state tournament," said Anderson's father Thursday. "Phone calls, letters, visitors... it's really been hectic. I'm glad he had a chance to tour a lot of schools that were interested in him, but I'm more happy it's over... we didn't pressure him or draw the lines on where he couldn't go... it was entirely his decision," he added.

Anderson's father also said that Kim had always expressed a desire to play at the University of Missouri.

Pleased with Anderson's signing, Stewart said in Columbia Thursday morning, "...He's had a fine high school background... his potential for college is extremely bright... he's a fine student, and a great individual, as well as being an outstanding basketball player."

Stewart said that he thought Anderson could play outside as a forward, rather than at center where he spent his high school career.

"I see him as an outside player... I don't see him isolated inside... his mobility is extremely good, and he has a lot of quickness for his size," Stewart concluded.

Anderson, a three-year letterman at S-C, was one of the key factors in the Tigers' third-place finish in the Missouri State High School Activities Association's Class L basketball finals in March.

Ken Reitz Heats Up Cardinals, 3-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — For many years, Ken Reitz of neighboring Daly City cost the San Francisco Giants paid admission by sneaking into Candlestick park with his high school buddies.

Reitz again gained free entry Wednesday as a member of the St. Louis Cardinals, and cost the Giants dearly with a two-run, sixth-inning homer that dented his former heroes 3-1.

"I used to see about 50 games a year here, sometimes cutting high school classes," Reitz recalled. "I only lived about a 20-minute walk from Candlestick, so I used to come with a lot of friends."

"We always got in free, too, because it was real easy to climb over the right field screen," Reitz said. "Willie McCovey was my favorite player because of all the homers he hit."

Reitz, a four-sports star at nearby Jefferson High, wasn't drafted high by the Cardinals because of a poor senior season. But he did sign in 1969 and reached the majors last year batting .359 in 21 games with St. Louis.

After 159 major league at-bats, without a homer, he collected his first off loser Ron Bryant, 3-3, Wednesday. It was enough to support the sturdy pitching of winner Reggie Cleveland 2-3, and reliever Diego Segui.

"This has to be my biggest day in baseball," Reitz admitted. "I wasn't guessing on the homer, I was just looking for a good pitch to hit and I got a fast ball."

"It is a real big thrill because it was hit in front of my family. I had six or seven relatives here-plus a lot of those buddies who used to sneak into the park with me."

The Giants, who averted a shutout with a ninth-inning run sent Sam McDowell against Rick Wise, in Thursday's series finale.

They were glad to be past Cleveland against whom they've scored only two runs in two games.

Irv Janey of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who won his first International Motor Contest Association stock car division championship in 1972, is sticking to his pre-season plans about spending the summer of '73 with the United States Auto Club.

However, a news release from the IMCA office in Des Moines, Iowa would have most race fans believing differently.

This item crossed this desk Wednesday morning:

"The 1972 IMCA new model stock car champion, Irv Janey, will be gunning for his second national title at the Mid-America Fair Speedway in Topeka, Kan., May 26... the popular Cedar Rapids race driver will be making his 1973 IMCA debut in a '73 Dodge Charger, owned by J&M Engineering of Iowa City, Iowa."

Janey said when contacted by telephone Wednesday, "What!?"

"I haven't even joined the organization this year... we are going to stick with USAC this season," he said.

A spokesman at the J&M Engineering shop in Iowa City echoed Janey's remarks, saying, "...No, we're not racing in Topeka on May 26... we are racing USAC (this year)."

Janey won 11 IMCA stock car features last season, but banked less than $10,000.

"I have nothing against the organization (IMCA), in fact they have always treated me more than fairly... we just can't make money racing with them (IMCA)... they are completely 'non-progressive,' money-wise," Janey said.

Bill Austin, Lone Jack, Mo., the president of Professional Auto Racing Promotions of Missouri, says although his organization lost money for the second time in as many years with his USAC stock car show here ("Missouri 100" held on April 29), he plans on coming back again next year with another USAC program.

But he is planning on making some changes. "I want to come back with a similar 100-mile race at the (Missouri State) Fairgrounds, after he learned that the Cards had dropped their 20th game in 25 starts, Tuesday night to the San Francisco Giants. "...Maybe they should activate their entire Tulsa AAA roster."

That same person later said, after he learned that the Cards had dropped their 20th game in 25 starts, Tuesday night to the San Francisco Giants. "...Maybe they should activate their entire Tulsa AAA roster."

Beefed Up Offenhausers Power Most Indy Racers

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Sixty-one of the 83 cars entered in this year's Indianapolis 500-mile race are powered by tiny four-cylinder engines smaller than the power plants in many compact passenger cars.

But these sophisticated Offenhauser engines, which also have carried the Miller and Mayer & Drake mark for half a century, have been refined in the laboratory of auto racing.

Herb Porter, an engineering consultant for Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., says the Offy engine is the most powerful, inch for inch, in history. Porter conducts the company's tire and engine testing on a fulltime basis.

But Porter, sometimes referred to as the father of the modern Offenhauser engine, notes the basic engine is not all that powerful.

In a 1,500-pound race car, the four-cylinder, 160-cubic-inch engine could only manage about 125 miles an hour, Porter said. Horsepower would be near 200.

But throw on a supercharger and a fuel injection system, and instantly you have about 800 horsepower and the potential to register a 200-mile-an-hour lap, he said.

Swede Savage, running with one of Porter's engines, has turned in a 197.802 lap, the fastest so far this month at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Savage recorded a 192.5 lap in practice Wednesday for the May 28 race.

"We get about five horsepower per cubic inch," Porter said. "If you've got that kind of horsepower out of your average passenger car with a 327 cubic inch engine, you would have about 1,600 horsepower. We get more horsepower per cubic inch now than any other car in the history of the world."

"While we could still get a lot more power, it would be a less reliable engine. More power is available for this year's race than last year's with a greater degree of reliability."

Winning at Indianapolis, he said, depends on the combination of "the power you can get, the power you can use and stay together" and the ability to complete the race on the amount of fuel allotted.

New York Knicks starting tonight.

The odds are against him since the Knickerbockers of the East go into the sellout contest of the Forum with a 3-1 edge in the best-of-7 final playoff series and need only one more victory to take the crown from the 1972 champions.

"This team is capable of winning the next three games," Sharman says of his Lakers, who took the measure of New York 4-1 a year ago.

"But we must minimize our mistakes and turnovers and do better on the boards," Sharman says. He also has Jerry West although the All-Star guard aggravated a right hamstring strain in the Tuesday night 103-98 loss at New York in the fourth game.

Both of West's hamstrings ache but he vows to be ready to start in the Lakers' do-or-die contest.

New York appears in strong physical shape with Willis Reed playing his best of three seasons—he was the most-valuable in the final playoffs of 1970.

Even better is slightly injured Dave DeBusschere whose three-point play, capping a 33-point performance, beat the comeback of the Lakers in Madison Square Garden Tuesday.

Los Angeles was listed a three-point favorite at Las Vegas, Nev., for game No. 5, but no one appeared to be accepting odds on the overall series.

Tourney Tickets Now on Sale

Smith-Cotton High School baseball coach Ralph "Skip" Schulz announced Thursday that tournament tickets for the 10th-Annual Smith-Cotton Invitational are on sale for Saturday's four-game schedule.

Schulz said tourney passes are priced at $1 each and are good for all four games. He also said that single admission for both the afternoon and evening sessions will be 75 cents per session.

Smith-Cotton will play Raytown in the noon opener. The 2 p.m. game pits Jefferson City against Columbia Hickman.

The evening session starts at 5:30 p.m. with the two losers meeting for third place. The championship game will get under way at 7:30 p.m.

Smith-Cotton is scheduled to meet Hannibal in a Central Missouri Conference doubleheader, Thursday, at 5 p.m. in Liberty Park Stadium.

'Out-Mayhemed,' Cousy

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bob Cousy sat on a storage locker and shook his head.

"That was the weirdest basketball game I've ever seen," lamented the U.S. coach after his squad lost to Russia 72-64 in the final game of a six-city American tour Wednesday. "You might say they out-mayhemed us."

The series, won by the United States 4-2, was characterized by rugged, elbow swinging play, and the finale followed that pattern.

The referees whistled 41 personal fouls against the Soviets, 40 against the Americans Wednesday. Three U.S. players and six Russians fouled out, including the visitors' Aleksandr Shalnev, who picked up his fifth personal with 6:02 remaining in the first half.

In addition, Swen Nater, the backup center from UCLA, was ejected from the game late in the second half for striking a Russian player.

"I don't think that's basketball we played out there tonight," Ron Behagen, the Minnesota forward who was himself thrown out of an earlier game for fighting, said in the locker room. "It may be their game, but it's not ours. Somebody could get hurt out there if they're not careful."

"I can't explain it, and I'm not saying that facetiously," Cousy said of the rough play and numerous fouls. "I've tried talking to the referees and it does absolutely no good."

The Russians jumped in front 16-7 in the opening minutes, led by as many as 10 points in the first half and were ahead 40-36 at intermission.

Aizhen Zharmukhamedov crammed eight of his team-high 16 points into the early stages of the second half as the Soviets, making judicious use of international rules which allow free throws only when a player is fouled in the act of shooting, increased their lead to 55-42 with 14:35 remaining.

Despite the frantic cries of the sellout crowd of 12,248 at the Civic Center, the Americans could pull no closer than seven points the rest of the way.

Ernie DiGregorio, the flashy guard who had keyed the American team, did not start as Cousy tried to put some life in his team from the opening tap.

"A situation like that is so-so for me," said DiGregorio, who finished with a game-high 22 points before fouling out. "It's tough for me to come off the bench, I like to start and play all the way."

Harris Survey Shows . . .

Blacks Show Little Interest in Hockey

NEW YORK (AP) — Black is not so beautiful in professional hockey.

Racism helped keep black athletes out of sports in general until after World War II, but eventually barriers came down.

Blacks succeeded in such establishment sports as baseball and football, although no black has ever won a permanent starting quarterback spot on a National Football League club.

In Canadian football there have been a couple of black quarterbacks—Sandy Stephens in the 1960s and last year's rookie of the year in the Canadian Football League, Chuck Ealey of Hamilton Tigercats.

Such is not the case in hockey, a sport American blacks still know little about and generally pass up for other sports in which they excel.

Only eight per cent of the 22 million black people in the United States follow hockey, says a poll conducted by Louis Harris. But 25 per cent of the white population can be classed as hockey fans.

Harris says one of the major reasons for black spectator apathy in hockey is the lack of top black pros. The National Hockey League has no black players. The rival World Hockey Association has one.

In comparison, the membership of the pro National Basketball Association is about 63 per cent black. Pro football and baseball rosters are well larded with black stars.

The hockey pickings are lean because black Americans do not grow up on ice skates.

If black Americans do skate, they are more inclined to use rollers instead of blades. Roller skating is growing in popularity as more public rinks open in black city areas, and roller hockey is a popular street game.

Alton White is the only black player in the WHA. Although he represents a milestone in pro ranks, White is quick to disclaim suggestions that he might turn out to be the Jackie Robinson of hockey.

White says he's not in a class with Robinson, the baseball player's ordeal was much tougher, and times have changed since Robinson broke in.

"I've had little trouble because of my skin color," White said.

Oddly, without black players the NHL is outdrawing pro basketball in all but two U.S. cities—New York and Los Angeles—where basketball and hockey coexist.

Some fans suggest white sports draw white crowds, and there are more and richer whites than blacks.

The Harris Poll says hockey fans are to be found in the United States in great numbers in the East and Midwest, among suburban residents, the under-30 group, those with a college education, and among those with incomes of $10,000 to $15,000.

Blacks in the United States live mainly in the inner city areas, few go to college, and most earn $6,000 or less a year.

Girl Will Make Debut In Little League Game

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Despite possible revocation of its Little League charter by national headquarters, Ypsilanti's youth baseball organization has decided to let Carolyn King, 12, play with the formerly all-boy group this summer.

The action Wednesday reversed a decision made earlier in the week and came after the city said its diamonds would not be available unless Carolyn was allowed to play.

Carolyn, whose ability reportedly surpasses that of many of her male counterparts, is to take the field tonight for her first game. "We feel we are doing the morally right thing as well as the practical thing," said League President William Anhut.

"We have made our decision," he said, referring to the possible charter suspension. "Now it's up to them (the national headquarters)" in Williamsport, Pa.

Robert Stirtat, director of public relations for the national organization and a rules committee member, said in his opinion, there is "no choice" but to uphold the no-girl rule. He confirmed "possible suspension of charter or revocation of it" could follow the latest local decision. An investigation must be made first, however, which could take several days.

Stan Smith Enhances Favorite Role in WCT

DALLAS (AP) — Stan Smith enhanced his favorite role in the $100,000 World Championship Tennis Tournament by literally driving young John Alexander of Australia into the front row seats Wednesday night.

Alexander, who was crushed 6-4, 6-2, 6-1 by Smith in their quarter-final match, climbed into the stands in the second set to join in the applause.

"How about cutting out the miracles and playing some tennis?" Alexander pleaded.

Smith will meet Rod Laver in a semifinal match Friday night. Laver, who twice has finished second in the WCT championship, downed fellow Aussie Roy Emerson 7-5, 6-2, 7-5 in the other quarter-final.

For Laver, it was his 13th consecutive victory over Emerson.

Defending champion Ken Rosewall meets England's Roger Taylor and Arthur Ashe battles Marty Riessen tonight in other quarter-final jousts.

Warrensburg Edges S-C Tennis Team

Warrensburg handed the Smith-Cotton boys tennis team at 7-6 setback Wednesday afternoon, as the Bengals tuned up for Thursday's Central Missouri Conference Tennis Tournament, scheduled to be held in Sedalia.

Reschedule Senior Babe Ruth Tryouts

Senior Babe Ruth tryouts, which were recently rained out, have been rescheduled for Monday and Wednesday at Liberty Park Stadium at 6 p.m. League official Carl Walker also said the rain date has been set for May 18.

The tryouts are for boys between the ages of 16-18 who did not play in the league last season.

Persons on teams last year and who are still eligible for the league this year need not attend.

of diamonds. Others would cash the 10 of diamonds and give up.

A West player worth his salt will lead the 10 and another diamond and look forward to some chance of beating the game contract.

They will know that South is not looking at their cards. South can't be sure that the 10 of spades is going to fall and if South doesn't have the queen of hearts in his hand South is very likely to discard two spades from dummy on those two diamonds and rely on the heart finesse for his ninth trick.

Maybe he won't but any chance is better than no chance, and this play does give the defense that chance.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The declarer has most of the advantage in play, but not all. He can't look into his opponents' hands and see how suits are going to break.

West opens the king of diamonds and continues with the queen. South wins that second lead and plays a spade to dummy's jack. East wins with the queen and leads back the nine of clubs, which is taken by South's ace.

South leads a second spade and West takes his ace since it is pointless to hold off.

At this point some West players would lead a club on the theory that they didn't want to set up South's nine

Registration By Postcard To House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed and sent to an uncertain fate in the House a bill that would allow Americans to register for federal elections by mailing a postcard.

The White House opposes the measure, which won 57-37 Senate passage Wednesday only after a month-long filibuster by Southern and conservative Democrats.

Twice earlier the Senate had failed to cut off debate and bring the bill to a vote. Opponents, led by Sens. James Allen, D-Ala., and Hiram Fong, R-Hawaii, contended registration by mail would promote election fraud.

The vote on halting the filibuster was 67 to 32, with all senators voting except John C. Stennis, D-Miss., who is recovering from gunshot wounds.

The bill, which was killed in the Senate last year, would create a voter-registration administration. The Census Bureau would identify potential voters and the Postal Service would deliver registration cards. The voter would register simply by returning the card. The maximum penalty for false registration would be a $10,000 fine and five years in prison.

Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., sponsor of the bill, estimated the project would cost $19 million a year. Opponents put the price tag at $120 million.
